

Posada José Ignacio:

Discover the Hip New Beachside Inn in José Ignacio, Uruguay

Eco Friendly, Well Priced Accommodations

Posada José Ignacio, a new beachside inn within walking distance from the village of José Ignacio, Uruguay will debut in December 2018, introducing a unique experience in one of the world's most coveted destinations. Comprised of six buildings, Posada José Ignacio offers guests well-priced communal style and private accommodations as well as lively co-working spaces that embrace creativity, striking natural surroundings, environmentally minded practices, modern design and an organic aesthetic blending Scandinavian influences with Italian technology and renewable materials.

Posada José Ignacio is well located within walking distance of the bohemian-chic village of José Ignacio, just steps away from the stunning beaches and exceptional sunset for which the laid-back destination is known. The Posada consists of four residential buildings surrounding two communal buildings, with a large shared terrace between them. The convivial communal spaces, the heart of Posada José Ignacio, face each other with transparent garage doors creating a fluidity between the indoors and outdoors. The vibrant communal areas serve as perfect spots to gather and socialize, with a bar, four self-service kitchens, 2 barbeques, and indoor and outdoor dining and lounge areas. Posada José Ignacio also offers large screen TV's, Ping Pong, a wide variety of games in the common areas as well as 2 laundry rooms. The village and the beaches are within walking distance but bicycles, ebikes and rickshaws are also available for rent. Together, the six buildings offer fifty-eight guestrooms, starting at $40 per person per night. Guests of Posada José Ignacio have the option of booking rooms individually, in pairs, or as a group.

Posada José Ignacio was conceived by Alexander and Carrie Vik, the innovators behind Vik Retreats, as a well-priced destination for travelers who want to enjoy the lifestyle and beautiful surroundings of José Ignacio. Posada José Ignacio is accessible via the Punta del Este and Montevideo airports, serviced by daily flights from international airports worldwide. José Ignacio is a forty-five minute drive along the coast from the Punta airport and 1-½ hours from the Montevideo airport.
